

Abstract of the Disclosure

A fixture for securing an umbrella to a chair includes a first clip, a second clip, a connector nod, a pulling rod, a cam rod, a pin, and a spring. The pin is inserted through the spring and connects with the first clip and the second clip at respective 5 ends. The first clip has a hole at the center. The connector nod has a spherical socket at one end and a connecting end at the opposite end. The spherical socket has an opening at the outer end and a notch at one side and a ditch at the opposite side thereof. The notch is interconnected with the opening. The ditch extends all the way to the connecting end, which urges the connecting end to insert into the hole of the first clip.
10 The pulling rod is inserted through the first clip and the second clip and connected with the cam rod at one end.